Notes:

Prince requires X's to be installed from top to bottom on all racquets. Beware bottom to top installation of X's will void the warranty.

In order to make it easier to feed cross strings through channels previously covered by main strings, it is recommended to place a piece of scrap string across the string groove prior to pulling tension on the main string. This string can then be used to pull the main string to the side when installing the cross string, and then removed from the racquet.

CAUTION:

MORE PERFORMANCE racquet design is unique because they do not need plastics grommets to protect the strings. It is not recommended to use sharp object such as awls during stringing because of the potential to scratch or damage the racquet frame
